Argentina Cuts State Ties With Catholic Church

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron has signed a measure setting up the process for amending the Constitution to break the ties between the state and the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina.

Today's issue of the official bulletin showed the law was signed Monday, three days after it won approval in both houses of Congress, where Peronistas have heavy majorities. It calls for elections for a National Assembly to rewrite the Constitution.

Roman catholicism is now the state religion and the President must be a Catholic. The state now contributes about 7 million dollars a year to support Catholic private schools and to pay part of the salary of top church prelates.

Passage of the law was one of the aims of Peron's supporters in the campaign they have waged against the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina since last November.

Search Continues For Lost Girl, 8

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Detroit police have offered their assistance in the search for 8-year-old Jennie Singleton.

The Kalamazoo youngster vanished mysteriously five days ago on her way home from school. No trace has been found of the girl who was left crippled by an attack of rheumatic fever four years ago.

Police fear she was abducted by a sex deviate.

Detroit Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins offered assistance late Thursday in a telegram to State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

Piggins offered the facilities of his department's detective division and the use of its scientific laboratory.

Childs welcomed the offer. He said there was ample personnel to continue the search but would appreciate having a team of detectives available for call "when the missing girl is found if circumstances then need further investigation."

Hundreds of volunteer searchers, aided by a Coast Guard helicopter and National Guard units from Kalamazoo have failed to have to uncover a tangible clue in the hunt for the missing girl.

Police have eliminated the possibility Jeannie might have been kidnapped for ransom. Her father, Steve, is a truck driver.

Foreign Aid Fund O. K. Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) predicted today the Senate "will vote to give President Eisenhower close to the 3½ billion dollars he has asked" in new foreign aid money.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, on which Sparkman serves, voted 13-2 endorsement Thursday of almost all the items asked by the President for foreign aid. In the bookkeeping year which starts July 1. The committee approved a $3,408,000,000 authorization measure. Eisenhower had asked $3,530,000,000. The committee said the 122-million-dollar difference between that and the bill it okayed was found to have been previously authorized.

Authority Given To Liquidate Strike-Bound Calumet Mines

CALUMET (AP)—Directors of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., have voted the company's strike-bound Calumet division authority to liquidate division assets.

Directors at a Boston meeting Thursday gave President Endicott R. Lovell power to terminate all or any part of the division's operation, liquidate its assets and recommend to the board other uses for the money realized in the liquidation.

Over 1,700 Idle

Lovell said, however, the action did not necessarily mean immediate liquidation. He said there were two major problems to be solved. If they are not solved, he said, "we will liquidate right away."

Lovell listed the two problems as a stockpile contract with the government's General Services Administration to sell copper at

Standards Set Up For Testing Of Polio Serum

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele announced today that all Salk polio vaccine manufacturers have agreed to put into effect at once revised safety standards. He said these standards "represent the best that science can give us."

Scheele's statement confirmed word given out earlier by representatives of the six participating pharmaceutical firms as they left a meeting with Public Health Service scientists. The meeting ran into the early morning hours.

Drug Makers Agree

Acceptance by the drug makers of the new government standards for making and testing the vaccine cleared the way for the manufacture of new supplies.

The surgeon general, in announcing the new standards, also indicated reclearance was on the way for vaccine supplies made by Pitman-Moore, Zionsville, Ind., and Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa. Those plants were visited sometime ago by Public Health Service teams, but no formal clearance followed as government officials paused for another look at the vaccine situation.

Scheele said his new advisory committee had told him that in its opinion "there is no question about the ability of these two manufacturers to produce an excellent vaccine."

Cutter Coming Back

He said the advisers had made "substantial progress" in reviewing data on lots of vaccine now under reappraisal and that they hoped to be able to make recommendations on their release "within the next few days."

Scheele also disclosed that the Cutter Laboratories, of Berkeley, Calif., was coming back into the program on an active basis under the revised standards. Cutter vaccine has been kept out of use for the past month because a number of youngsters who had been injected with it later developed polio.

Two South Bend, Ind., walleye fisherman, Charles Van der Voort and Charles Murphy, were taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital this afternoon suffering from shock and exposure. The boat in which they were fishing in Big Bay de Noc off Garden Corners overturned and they were rescued by W. O. Steede, of Red Key, Indiana.

Three other fishing boats that left Garden Corners this morning had not returned at 2 p.m. today and some concern was expressed for their safety in view of rough seas and high winds that swept Big Bay de Noc.

Mrs. John W. Kunkel, operator of a resort at Garden Corners, said that she saw Van der Voort and Murphy encountering difficulty rowing in to shore. Steede, a guest at Kunkel's Resort, went to the rescue of the two men and assisted them to shore, although their boat overturned in the rescue attempt.

State Police from the Manistique post were alerted and are standing by at Garden Corners to aid in the search for the boats that are still missing.

Jet Base Offered On Beaver Island

BEAVER ISLAND (AP)—The Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce offered their Lake Michigan island today as a site for the proposed Air Force jet plane base.

Lloyd McDonough, chamber secretary, made the offer in a telegram to Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott.

The wire called attention to the island's isolated position, about 35 miles offshore, which would forestall many objections previously made by residents near other proposed Michigan sites, McDonough said.

"We hope the Air Force will give serious consideration to our offer," McDonough said. "Economically, the island is in serious trouble and the location of the base here would be an inestimable blessing for our people."

City Schools Given 7 Mills

The Delta County tax allocation board last night decided the 15-mill property tax in the county on the basis of seven mills for city schools in Escanaba and Gladstone and eight mills for county government.

A temporary allocation of seven mills for township school districts and eight mills for the county also was established by the allocation board. A permanent allocation for the township school will be made at the next meeting of the allocation board.

The allocation made last night for the city schools and the county government is the same as tentatively allocated at a recent meeting of the allocation board.

C. Gust Peterson, president of the Escanaba Board of Education, sought to have the 15-mills equally divided between the county and the city schools and he was supported by Hagle Quarstrom, county school superintendent. The other four members of the allocation board, however, voted for the 7-8 division. They are Helmer J. Skogquist, Gladstone, chairman; H. J. Henrickson, Gladstone chairman of the county finance committee; County Treasurer Ann Villeneuve and Jacob Bink, Escanaba, councilman.

2. Prizes will be awarded for largest fish caught each week in each of the five categories: Smallmouth Bass, Walleye Pike, Northern Pike, Yellow Perch and Brook Trout.

3. Fishing equipment dealers will send entry blanks to Daily Press at end of each week.

4. In case of tie, both entries will receive awards. Decision of the Press judges is final.

5. No contestant may receive more than one award in any one division during the current season.

6. Clear pictures of prize winning fish are solicited for publication in the Press.

Ted Moore Funeral Held At Marquette

MARQUETTE (R-E. A. "Ted" Moore, editor of the Marquette Mining Journal, will be buried today in Marquette.

Funeral services were scheduled for late today (3 p.m.) from the Swanson Funeral home.

A veteran newsman known throughout the Upper Peninsula and in adjoining states, Moore died of a heart attack Wednesday night. He had been ill only four hours.

Moore was a native of Grand Rapids. He joined the Journal as managing editor in 1919 after being discharged from the army as a first lieutenant. He was named editor and assistant to the publisher, Frank J. Russell, in 1947.

The group consisted of 25 graduate student geologists, and faculty members, wives and undergraduates, in charge of Dr. A. L. Howland, chairman of the Department of Geology at Northwestern, and Dr. Laurence Nobles and Dr. E. C. Dapples of the faculty. Dr. J. M. Carr of London, England, teaching geology at the University of Illinois this year, was in the group, which also included a Filipino student, several Canadians, Victor Kral, geologist of the Ford Motor Company, who joined the tour in Escanaba today, and King Huber of Iron Mountain, a Northwestern graduate

Geologists Visit Here On Tour

The Upper Peninsula is a place of high interest to geologists. That's why 33 geologists from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., spent last night at the Delta Hotel in Escanaba and continued on into the peninsula this morning by chartered bus on a field study trip.

Each year Northwestern Geology Department sends a tour to the U. P. Last year it visited Houghton and the White Pine copper mine. This year's tour will spend tonight and Saturday night in Negaunee, Sunday night in Iron Mountain and return to Evanston Monday.

"We like to come to the Upper Peninsula," said Dr. Howland "because it is a classic region which has been actively studied because of its iron deposits and because of its type area in geology—the so-called pre-Cambrian rocks. There are lots of relations to be seen and argued about, so it makes an interesting study area."

Rail Officials End Convention

Representatives of the Western Region of the Short Lines Railroad Association concluded its annual meeting in Escanaba last night with a banquet session at the House of Ludington at which Claude Ebling, agricultural agent of the Soo Line Railroad, was the principal speaker.

Approximately 80 members of the association, their wives and guests attended the banquet session. V. M. Bushman, Green Bay, regional vice president of the association presided at the meeting.

In his address, in which he featured feats of magic and humor, Ebling emphasized the need for cooperative effort in the railroad industry. He urged the members of the association to work out their problems and not to seek the solution of railroad problems in Washington. He declared that the American railroads are an outstanding example of private enterprise.

"Keep hatred from your hearts," Ebling advised. "Hatred only causes inefficiency."

What U.S. Needs Is Invention To Cure Patent Office Ills

The United States prides itself upon being a nation of inventors. Not all of us have actually invented something, but most of us have an idea tucked away in the back of our mind that we're sure will make our fortunes if we ever get it patented. We don't get beyond the day dream stage in our inventing and that's a good thing today, because of the condition in the United States Patent Office in Washington.

The important contribution of the United States patent system to the nation's technical progress is evident. Patents reward inventors by giving them exclusive use of new ideas for a limited time. Abraham Lincoln commented on the benefits of the system to the nation. It encourages inventions that benefit mankind because it holds forth rewards for inventors. If the benefits from our modern mechanics, electronics, agriculture and other fields that we owe to inventions were removed, we would be whisked back to the frontier.

And yet the mother house of this great inventive force is in a sorry condition because of mistaken efforts at government economy. The situation is so serious that the U. S. Senate has authorized an investigation. Secretary of Commerce Weeks admitted to a house committee that the situation was bad but asked delay on remedy until the budget is more nearly in balance.

While the accumulation of pending applications for patents has increased, and the waiting time for processing of applications has stretched to a discouraging and amazing four years or more, the Patent Office budget has been cut and its force of patent examiners has been reduced.

New applications are coming into the Patent Office at the rate of 75,000 a year and the backlog of application now totals 216,000 and it is growing. The number of examiners working on applications has dropped from 720 in 1950 to 610 at present.

Because of the growing complexity of applications, the number of cases which an examiner can process is decreasing. So all elements of the situation are contributing to its worsening. For several years the patent commissioner has asked for more funds and has been turned down by the Commerce Department, with Congress sharing the responsibility because its appropriation committees have done little to provide more funds.

This bottleneck in far off Washington isn't something of no importance along Bay de Noc. It is estimated that 75 per cent of the jobs in the United States today are due to inventions made in the past 50 years. It is only necessary to reflect upon what has happened to employment and business because of the invention of the automobile, the airplane, motion pictures, electronics, plastics, synthetic fibers, petroleum processing, atomic energy, chemical discoveries to understand the importance of invention to American progress.

Alexander Graham Bell got a patent on the telephone that he had invented only three weeks after application and Thomas Alva Edison had to wait only three months for his patent on the incandescent electric lamp. The problems of patenting have increased from the days of these two inventive geniuses, but so have the means for solution of such problems. Recently an inventor waited more than six years for a patent on an artificial tooth and another waited five years for a patent on a simple cleaning device. Such waits are unnecessary and harmful to the process of invention.

A committee headed by Dr. Vannavar Bush, world eminent scientist, found that the Patent office, established to stimulate industrial progress, is now heavily overburdened by the products of the very inventive genius it has fostered and encouraged. The number of patents and articles in the Patent Office files which must be searched in granting of new patents has increased from 1,200,000 in 1900 to about 7,000,000 in 1955. As the data has increased the processing has slowed. Staff for a speed-up is needed. Now.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPmann

The lower house of Congress has just done its bit in dealing with the military bills to give the tough-minded and cynical reason to say we told you so: let peace begin to dawn however faintly on the far horizon, and before you can turn around the politicians who are worrying about the election will begin to demobilize and to disarm.

The President had proposed to Congress that the standing forces be cut back somewhat and that this reduction should be compensated by an improved Reserve. The President's program rested on the fact that with an ocean to cross for a war in Europe or in Asia, the standing forces at home can, as he put it, be "tailored." For the rate at which troops can be moved from continental United States across an ocean cannot be fast. There is necessarily time to mobilize a Reserve if it is already trained. The reduction of the standing forces can be justified, therefore, only if it is backed by trained Reserve," asked chairman Vinson, "then we shall have to keep a larger standing force?" To this Secretary Stevens replied, "That is definitely my view."

In the face of this the House has now voted to reduce the standing forces. Then it has voted to lay aside the Reserve program. On both issues the majority of the Representatives did not mean, if anyone had asked them about it, to start demobilizing and disarming before there has even been agreement on the place where we are to talk with the Russians. They were not thinking of the Russians at all. They were thinking of the constituencies. But the cynics are entitled to say that the House would not have taken the easy line with no serious objections from the executive if Washington, which was anxious about war in February, had not become unanxious in May.

No wonder that in high quarters throughout the Western coalition there is a deep concern as to whether the military and political system, put together with such trouble, may begin to melt with the first rays of the sun. The system depends upon the continuing popular support of such unpopular things as conscription, high taxes, the presence of foreign troops, and obedience to foreign commanders. These unpopular things have been supported by democratic legislatures because there was a powerful Red Army in the heart of Europe controlled by an aggressive, unfriendly, and inscrutable government in Moscow.

The system was put together because of the tension created from Moscow. Now Moscow and the great powers say that they wish to relax the tension. If the morale of the democracies is to be maintained, they will need to pass through the equivalent of a decompression chamber. Otherwise, like the House of Representatives, they will develop a case of the bends.

A complete Communist victory in these tropical islands would mean Red envelopment of the critical Malayan states and isolation of pro-Western remnants in this area, including our Pacific ally, Australia. The Reds would be only minutes from Singapore on the one hand and the Philippines on the other.

Indonesia is the last great portion of Asia where the Communists can move in, aided by a strong internal drive, without running into a Western collective security agreement. And many signs suggest they are capitalizing on their opportunity.

The first and most obvious sign is that it is both acceptable and respectable to be a Communist here. Opposition to communism is disorganized, and anti-Red political leaders are tagged with the label of graft and corruption.

All elements needed to conquer a country from within by assistance from outside are in smooth working order in Indonesia. Informants indicate that Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's supply line from Peiping will hereafter furnish even more fuel for the job.

Under a deal closed at the recent Bandung conference, 3,000,000 Chinese in these islands must during the coming year choose between Indonesian and Red Chinese nationality. It is expected at least half will declare for Chou, giving him a potentially strong addition to his underground to assist native Red leaders.

Furthermore, it is widely accepted here that the Indonesian army has been penetrated by Communist elements. The same is true of nearly every government establishment but the national police.

Politically there is a real passion for freedom in these islands. Yet observers can see no cure for the Communist cancer while the malignancy is nurtured in the native belief it really isn't dangerous.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Breathes there a man with soul so dead that he hasn't at least one time said: "If I hear that blasted commercial just once more, so help me I'll wreck the next."

No, I suppose there isn't one among us who hasn't felt that surge of resentment when our ears are assaulted for the umpteenth time by insistent instructions to himselves to the corner pharmacy for a tube of so-and-so's handy-dandy, chlorophyll-packed toothpaste. But, as noted in this space yesterday, there are signs that relief lies ahead. At any rate, some of the top advertising wizards are beginning to realize that, in the words of one of them, this kind of advertising "is all based on the rather dangerous assumption that the public are fools."

However as Abraham Lincoln said: "It is true that you may fool all the people some of the time; you can even fool some of the people all the time; but you can't fool all the people all the time."

So it would appear that advertising executives are beginning to realize that the small segment of the public whom they can fool "all the time" isn't nearly as important as the vast majority who resent being fooled but who will respond to a sensible selling message attractively and intelligently presented.

Well, then, you ask, why do we still hear so much tasteless and repetitious blather on the airwaves? Perhaps a clue can be found in these words from one of the industry's leading spokesmen: "One of the most distressing things about this advertising business," says Edwin Cox, senior vice-president of Kenyon & Eckhardt, "is the number of highly-paid creative people who come to talk to me about a job and say they haven't written any advertising they really believe in for the last five years—However badly one may feel about these men, their work has spread disease instead of insanity in advertising."

Strong words, these, and I should be unfair to Mr. Cox if I didn't also quote his belief that "the general level of advertising today is higher than it has ever been. And I think we can see it improving each year."

The difference between tamales in the U. S. A. and in Mexico, explains Pepe Montague, is that in the States they're merely hot; in Mexico, they're still sizzling ten minutes after you've eaten them. There's one place in Mexico City, swears Pepe, where, if three people are eating hot tamales at the same time, the automatic sprinkler system goes on.

One of the facts of life in democratic societies is that public opinion tends to become extreme and absolute about war and peace: to oscillate between appeasement and unconditional surrender. The consequences in this century have been tragic.

For absolute opinions are a fatal obstacle to successful negotiations. Foreign policy is caught between disarmament which gives in easily and a call for total victory which costs too much and is—as we have learned in the two wars—politically worthless.

Furthermore, it is widely accepted here that the Indonesian army has been penetrated by Communist elements. The same is true of nearly every government establishment but the national police.

Politically there is a real passion for freedom in these islands. Yet observers can see no cure for the Communist cancer while the malignancy is nurtured in the native belief it really isn't dangerous.

There is therefore danger that the Western democratic morale, having been held up so long by fear of war, might go to pieces during a long and confusing negotiation about peace. The president is aware of the problem. At last Wednesday's press conference he said that "some years back, I was struck by the fact that we were probably going to extremes in this thing. It was either black or white. You either had a war right now or peace, that was wonderful, and you would get it."

Lifers Seeking Parole Are Given Support

MARQUETTE—The Michigan parole board Wednesday heard arguments for the release of two life prisoners at Marquette prison. They are Wayne Robinson, 49, sentenced for armed robbery, and George Cone, 56, sentenced for a fourth felony—auto theft.

Cone was last sentenced in 1930 for stealing six cars with keys left in them. His prison record since 1947 has been good and a sister in Lansing has offered to give him a home when he is released.

Robinson was sentenced in 1933 for participation in the robbery of the Kaleva State Bank in which a teller was slain by one of Robinson's partners. Robinson was the lookout, had no gun and was wounded twice in the holdup. In 20 years in prison he has been on report only once—for giving food to an inmate in solitary confinement. He was given two meritorious service citations.

Two Remington Killers Get Life

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Two convicted car thieves were sentenced in U.S. District Court here to additional life terms for the prison slaying of former government economist William W. Remington.

A third federal convict was given a 20-year-prison sentence for Remington's fatal beating.

All three had pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

Sentenced to life by Judge Frederick V. Follmer were:

Lewis Cagle Jr., 17, Chattanooga, Tenn., and George Junior McCoy, 34, Grundy, Va.

Robert Carl Parker, 21, Washington, D. C., received the 20-year sentence.

The three were returned to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg where they will serve their terms in the same prison in which Remington was killed Nov. 22.

The 37-year-old Remington, once employed in the U.S. Commerce Department, was serving a three-year sentence on a perjury conviction.

Straits Bridge Will Be World's Greatest, Says Prentiss Brown

DETROIT (AP) — "Without any doubt," says the chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, the $100 million dollar span which will link Michigan's two peninsulas "will be the greatest bridge in the world."

Prentiss M. Brown, the chairman and a former U. S. Senator, made his assertion Wednesday night in an address to the Detroit Historical Society. The bridge is going up across the Straits of Mackinac.

"There are longer bridges," Brown conceded, "and there is one (California's Golden Gate) which has a greater span between its two main towers."

"But there is no other suspension bridge with both of its 'feet' in deep water, and none that has a greater suspension system from anchor block to anchor block."

Brown said construction of the 5-mile span is on schedule and it should be completed by November, 1957. Work started over a year

Old Timer Took Dim View Of Michigan

EAST LANSING — Edward Tiffin, a surveyor general of the United States, took a dim view of Michigan as an agricultural state back in 1815.

"That part of the country (Michigan) consists of light, sandy soil, lakes and swampland that was not even worth the cost of the government survey," Tiffin said.

So Michigan was given a wide berth by easterners who were seeking homes and opportunities in the west.

Governor Gets New FEPIC Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature Thursday handed Gov. William G. M. Gandy a fair employment practices (FEPIC) bill ending one of the bitterest struggles over a single issue in legislative history.

The bill would prohibit employers from discriminating against employees because of their race, creed or color. It sets up a six-man commission to act as a watchdog on employment practices.

U. N. Supported By Presbyterians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Presbyterians have endorsed the United Nations as "an instrument by which sovereign nations can meet together, plan together and act together to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war."

The 167th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America ended Wednesday after also taking stands for universal disarmament and desegregation.

"We warn our churches and church members against malicious attacks on the United Nations on the part of persons and groups whose avowed purpose is to 'get the United States out of the United Nations and the United Nations out of the United States,'" the assembly said.

The assembly declared, "We believe that lasting peace requires the elimination and prohibition of all weapons of mass destruction."

It said that such complete disarmament, however, must be worldwide and a suggestion that the church seek immediate prohibition of any use of nuclear weapons by the United States was defeated.

On the desegregation issue, the assembly declared, "The church must act now to abolish from its practices all forms of segregation."

The assembly called upon members of the church to work for desegregation in businesses, professions, unions, housing projects, public schools and public positions.

Next year's general assembly will be held in Philadelphia and in 1957 it will be in Omaha, Neb.

President Eisenhower Calls For Prayers In Memorial Observances

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has proclaimed Memorial Day, next Monday, as a day of nationwide prayer for permanent peace.

Acting under a congressional resolution to set aside a day for that purpose, the President designated the hour beginning in each locality at 11 a. m. as a period in which citizens "may unite in beseeching God to guide the nations of the world into the ways of peace."

The proclamation said Memorial Day each year serves as a "solemn reminder of the scourge of war and its bitter aftermath of sorrow," and is tradi-

ERODED BANK—Cattle graze near raw bank on Pine Creek. Spring erosion leaves bank raw, depositing silt in water and covering up spawning grounds and reducing food production for trout. Erosion also fills in channels, cutting down amount of deep water. Cattle help break bank down. — (Photos by Arthur Feldhauser.)

RIP-RAPPING—Banks like those shown at left are repaired by rip-rapping (piling rock) after bank has been graded back. Upper portion of bank is sodded and may be seeded in some places. Considerable amount of rip-rapping will be done on Pine Creek this summer.

Dickinson County Pine Creek Site Of Major Improvement Program

Sportsmen's Clubs To Aid Development

necessary to install 183 single wing deflectors, 27 double wing deflectors, 63 log-sod covers, 44 log-boom covers, 22 arbor covers, four boulder covers, one stump cover and one lowhead dam. In addition, approximately 8,500 linear feet of eroding banks will need development work. About 1,106 rods of fence will be required to exclude cattle from stream banks.

Dingell-Johnson Project

"We plan to complete the program this year," Feldhauser said, "providing we can obtain the necessary heavy equipment."

The project is being handled by the Conservation Department's stream improvement section, with an assist from the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Sportsmen's Club and the Norway Restoration Association.

Arthur Feldhauser, Marquette, stream improvement technician, is in charge of the operation which is typical of projects being carried out by the department in a program designed to produce better fishing by producing better habitat for fish.

$35,000 Operation

At its May meeting, the Conservation Commission flashed the green light of approval for the $35,000 (estimated) Pine Creek improvement project.

Before any construction work was scheduled on the stream, an exhaustive survey was made to determine Pine Creek's potentialities and its requirements for improved fishing. Such features as soil erosion, water temperature, bottom types and grazing were inventoried. Then a list of recommendations for improving the stream was drafted and construction costs estimated. A detailed report containing all of this information was submitted to department administrators.

Three Main Defects

The survey disclosed that Pine Creek now has three principal defects: (1) its water is too warm for ideal trout conditions, (2) its riffle area is out of balance with its pool area and (3) the creek lacks sufficient escape cover and pools.

For optimum spawning, pools should be situated immediately above riffles so that trout may enter the riffles to spawn while having a convenient pool to escape into if danger threatens.

But sportsmen aren't the only ones who stand to benefit from the project. Stream improvement operations on Pine Creek will aid farmers as well by helping prevent their soil from being washed away.

In other words, everyone concerned will benefit from the Pine Creek and other stream improvement projects — now and in the future.

TREES SUPPLY 'MILK'

"Cow trees" that grow in the tropical forests of Venezuela and Brazil yield a white nutritious sap that is almost indistinguishable from true milk. It can be drunk as it comes from the tree, used in cooking or even made into whipped cream.

Other information included in the survey report showed that Pine Creek, a stream 22 miles long, has its headwaters in the west central portion of Dickinson County and flows in a south-southeasterly direction into the Sturgeon River near Loretto. The watershed drains approximately 39,000 acres. The main stream averages 25 feet in width and one foot in depth.

Recommended Construction Work

After field work for the survey was completed last August, stream improvement crews recommended that structures be installed on the creek to reduce stream temperature, improve the riffle-pool relationship, increase fish cover and create more desirable fishing spots.

In order to do this, it will be

Construction, Survey Work On 7 Streams

Construction and/or survey work has been carried out on seven Upper Peninsula streams and several lakes and ponds by Conservation Department lake and stream improvement crews during the current fiscal year.

A review covering the year ending June 30, 1955 lists the following operations:

To Help Obtain Easements

The Iron Mountain - Kingsford and Norway clubs, both affiliated with the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association, will play an important part in the project. Their members will help the department contact farmers and land owners with property along the stream to obtain easement necessary for carrying out the improvement operations.

A total of 128 property owners are involved in the area of development. Club members, many of whom are acquainted with the property owners, are in a position to expedite the granting of easements and thus spare the department additional time, effort and expense.

Club members also may lend a hand in the project next fall when about 12,500 spruce and red pine trees are scheduled to be planted along the stream banks to afford shade and thus help reduce water temperatures.

But sportsmen aren't the only ones who stand to benefit from the project. Stream improvement operations on Pine Creek will aid farmers as well by helping prevent their soil from being washed away.

In other words, everyone concerned will benefit from the Pine Creek and other stream improvement projects — now and in the future.

Nesting Time For Partridge

Howard K. Eldred

ONE summer night a few years ago a lean man with a weather-beaten face crouched beside a campfire in the Algoma bush country of Ontario. He gazed into the embers and spoke about the brook trout in the Goulais River and about Ranger Lake and the country beyond. You got the impression that he was an excellent woodsman and that this was the kind of life and the kind of country he loved best. Last week he went to his death a few miles from that campfire, and Michigan lost one of its finest sportsmen and conservationists.

HOWARD K. ELDRIDGE had been district game supervisor at Escanaba ever since that office was established in 1946 and it can be said that he was among the handful of top game managers in the state. A man dedicated to the conservation of game, he fought ardently for game protection throughout his area and jealously guarded the rights of sportsmen against the encroachment of other interests. His tragic death was a severe blow to all who knew him and to everyone who loves the wilderness as Howard Eldred loved it.

Brought To U.S. In 1880's, Brownie Now Prize Fish Here

(This is the third in a series of articles on game fish species of the Upper Peninsula.—Ed.)

The beauteous brown trout has come a long way since its stormy introduction into this country from Germany. This was back in the 1880's and ardent brook trout fishermen howled lustily that the brown trout would eat up all their beloved brook trout.

Despite all this name-calling, the brown trout is a prime game fish. It never has been proven any more dangerously destructive than larger trout of other species.

It has been proven, however, that the brown is capable of surviving in waters where other trout disappear. This has made it a valuable sport fish for many waters would be barren of trout were it not for the hardy and crafty brown.

World Record

The all-time record which has withstood the onslaughts of fishermen since 1886 when it was taken by W. Muir, at Loch Awe, Scotland, is a whopping 39½ pounder. Hoot mon!

Fly fishermen have learned that brown trout fishing is no place for dainty tackle. Bass action rods in nine foot length, weighing from five to six ounces, using HCH or C level line are best. Leaders should be from six to nine feet long, and from six to ten pound test, except in very clear water. Then they must be longer and lighter to fool this wary feeder.

Since the brown trout is consistently a surface feeder, the largest ones are taken on big dry flies and bass bugs, especially after dark. Streamers and spinner-fly combinations also take their share.

Fox Playing Possum Has Crow Dinner

STEPHENSON — A fox played possum to catch a crow near here recently.

Ed Vetro, a lookout on duty at the Stephenson fire tower, sighted a fox watching a woodchuck den in an adjacent field. While Vetro was observing the fox, a half dozen crows flew over the area. Apparently sighting them, the fox froze in prone position.

The crows circled the fox for about 20 minutes. Finally one of them landed near the fox, expecting to dine on a choice bit of carion. He moved a little too close to Reynard, and the fox found himself dining on crow instead of woodchuck.

Egret Record

Dear Sir:

Bird observers in the Marquette region will be interested to learn that the recent record of an American egret seen April 30 along the Dead River north of Marquette was not the first for this bird for the Upper Peninsula.

An American egret was seen at close range and positively identified on July 30, 1949 at the Seney National Wildlife Refuge in Schoolcraft County by a group of ornithologists, including Dr. George M. Sutton; C. J. Henry, refuge manager, and Elizabeth B. Beard, at that time refuge biologist.

Answers Stenson

Mr. Stenson:

I read your article in last Friday's paper concerning the question of commercial fishermen, and I do not agree completely with what you said, and I think it's about time that someone put in a word for the commercial fishermen instead of against him.

First off, I am not a commercial fisherman and have nothing to do with it whatsoever. I myself am an enthusiastic rod and reel man and I am an employee of the Munising News.

I have had a lot of contacts with the commercial fishermen here in Munising. These fishermen set nets within a 15 mile radius of Munising. Now this small radius isn't compared to much as there are hundreds of miles of water in Lake Superior.

And about closing commercial fishing in spawning grounds. As we all know the lake trout spawns in the fall of the year and in shallow water in Lake Superior and not out in the deep.

During this spawning season lake trout fishing is closed to everyone including the commercial fisherman.

Another thing I have found out here is that in the past few years that commercial fishermen who have caught trout with spawn in them have saved all this spawn and have turned it over to the Conservation Department for experimentation and also for hatching. Last year when the spawn was hatched into fingerling size these were brought back to a certain commercial fisherman here, put on his boat, with the assistance of Conservation Department man, and again deposited in Lake Superior. The commercial fisherman takes fish but he also puts them back. Now I ask, do you or your club do as much for conservation as these men have?

You also stated that thousands of pounds of rainbow, speckled, brown and steel head trout occasionally get into the nets. In all my visits to the fishing fleet I have never seen any one of these species of fish taken, and I say this truthfully. I have been lake trout trolling now for the past two years in the summer and it seems that trolling has been picking up better than in previous years. It is true that some of these men make a good living at it but there are also many of them who barely make a go of it. These men have spent large sums of money into this business and their overhead is very high. This is a free country and every man is entitled to get ahead if other people would let him alone, I hope you will bear this in mind.

VIC STOCK,
Munising.

Dead Raccoon Reports Halted In Michigan

No dead raccoons have been reported to Conservation Department workers for several months.

A "distemper-like" disease has killed numbers of Michigan's raccoons during the last three years. However, raccoon populations are still believed relatively high.

Bigest Cedar In U. P.?

From the album of Conservation Officer Gil Larson of Trenary comes this photo of a giant cedar tree, possibly the largest cedar growing in the Upper Peninsula. It is located on state land in Section 13, T45N, R24W, Marquette County, and has a circumference of 14 feet, eight inches at four feet, five inches from the ground. Waino Mattila, Rock, is shown standing beside the tree. The only known larger cedar in the state—and possibly in the nation—is one located on South Manitou Island in Lake Michigan. At four feet, five inches, it has a circumference of 17 feet, four and three-tenths inches.

Parula Warbler Added To Bird List

A parula warbler was among the 13 species of spring bird arrivals added last week to a list being compiled by observers in the Marquette County area.

The report is believed to be the first for this species in this area since it was observed in the Huron Mountains in 1936 by Dr. Joslyn Van Tine, University of Michigan ornithologist. The warbler was seen May 21 this year east of the Huron Bay grade and another was observed Sunday on the east side of Presque Isle in Marquette.

Other species added to the list, and dates of first reports, are: Nashville warbler, May 11; blue-headed vireo, May 17; Tennessee warbler, May 18; nighthawk, May 20; Connecticut warbler and Canada warbler, May 21; black-billed cuckoo, whip-poor-will, crestless flycatcher and veery, May 22, and cliff swallow and pewee, May 23.

Mrs. Paquette Elected WCOF Chief Ranger In Convention Wednesday

Mrs. Frank Paquette, of Manistique, former recording secretary, was elected Chief Ranger of the Cloverland association of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters during its convention here Wednesday afternoon and evening.

A total of 175 WCOF members from Manistique, Escanaba, Gladstone, Iron Mountain, Houghton, Powers, Spalding, Munising and Newberry attended sessions here.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Russell Briggs of Newberry, vice chief ranger; Mrs. Edna Corriveau, Spalding, recording secretary; Mrs. Earl LaMothe, Munising, financial secretary; Mrs. Clarence Garrett, Escanaba, treasurer; Mrs. John Giachino, Iron Mountain, Mrs. John Hemes, Escanaba, and Mrs. Thomas Foley, Newberry, trustees; and Mrs. Leo St. Martin, Munising, musician.

Catholic Companionship

Principal speakers for the meetings were Mrs. Mabeline Lindenmeyer, of Chicago, high treasurer, and Mrs. Henry Weber, of Houghton, high trustee.

The convention opened with registration at 1:30 p. m., in St. Francis De Sales school hall. Following afternoon meetings, the Catholic women attended Solemn Benediction at 4 p. m., in the new church here with Fr. Edmund Szoka, assistant pastor, Fr. George Pernaski, of Grand Marais, and Fr. John Ryan, of Nahma, officiating. A social hour in the school hall followed.

The evening session was preceded by a 6 p. m., turkey dinner served in the Knights of Columbus hall with St. Francis De Sales court No. 992 in charge. Invocation was by Father Szoka, who also was guest speaker for the convention dinner. He outlined the opportunities for Catholic companionship in the Foresters organization, and urged members to aid one another in leading Christian lives.

Foresters Tributed
Mrs. Lyle Charron was master of ceremonies and the welcome address was given by Mrs. George Tigas.

The program included a vocal solo "Melody of Love" by Gail LaBrasseur; accordion selections by Mary Lou Hamill, two numbers by a Manistique Junior Foresters sextette, three vocal solos, "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," "Unchained Melody" and "The Vagabond Song" by Loren LaBrasseur; two vocal duets, "My Hero" and "Kentucky Babe" by Gail LaBrasseur and Loretta Charron; a vocal solo, "Mighty Like a Rose" by Loretta Charron, a humorous reading "One Big Happy Family" by Myrna Peterson and group singing of "Till We Meet Again."

Father Pernaski paid tribute to the Foresters for their aid to the seminary priests during the meeting, and Mrs. Lindenmeyer and Mr. Weber spoke on Forester insurance and activities. Also speaking briefly was Mrs. Corriveau, retiring chief ranger of the Cloverland association.

Tax Allocation Board Recesses Until Tuesday

The Schoolcraft County Tax Allocation board Thursday morning met for two hours and then recessed until 8 p. m., Tuesday, at which time it will review school budgets and set the final allocation for the 15-mill property tax.

At the meeting Thursday morning, recessed since last Friday, the board obtained information from Lansing which indicates that voted millages in townships and school districts must be levied on state equalized valuations, except on bonds and levies in which the amount of money to be raised each year is specified. On levies for bond retirement and stated amounts, millage will be adjusted and applied on state valuations, to raise only the amount needed.

The three and a half mill special levy for the school building and equipment fund in the City of Manistique was discussed Thursday morning with A. F. Hall, school superintendent, who presented wording of the resolution and ballot proposal when it was voted. Under present interpretation of new state regulations on tax levying, it appears the special school levy in Manistique must be levied on the state equalized valuation.

The tax allocation board took no final action at its meeting Thursday morning. General agreement on the board appears to be for a levy of 7.5 mills on the state valuation for the county and millages ranging from five mills to 7.5 mills on state valuations for the various school districts. The board has stated it will not jeopardize the state aid eligibility of any school by allocating less than five mills to any district.

County equalized valuations will be used in special levies voted before Jan. 1, if the amount is fixed or if the money is for bond retirement.

A heart-shaped entrance has been erected for the grand march, which will be led by Junior and Senior class officers and their guests.

The same decorations will be used for the Freshman-Sophomore dance in the gym Saturday night, and music will be by the Swing Kings.

Big Baby Boom Will Continue

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The great United States baby boom, which sent births to an all-time high of 4,076,000 last year, may be expected to continue for several more years, according to a current report by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians.

The current upsurge in births, unparalleled in the country's history, has been unchecked since the close of World War II. From 1946 through 1954 the number has averaged more than three and three-quarters million annually, or one and three-fifths times the low figure of 1933.

Important factors in the rise in the number of babies born yearly, the report states, has been a marked increase in the number of married women, and an almost uninterrupted rise in the fertility rate from its low level in the 1930's.

"Wives at ages 15 to 44 have increased in number by one-seventh since 1945, and by more than one-third since 1933," it is pointed out. "In each of the post-war years about one out of every six married women at these ages bore a child, but in the mid-30's the proportion was only one in eight."

Particularly noteworthy is the sustained high rate for second births, the rapid rise in the rate for third and fourth births, and the current upward tendency in the rate for fifth births. This presages a return to moderate size families in the United States, according to the statisticians, although not to the large families of several decades ago.

With the continuation of favorable economic and social conditions, it is noted, an expected decline in the birth of second and waste into the Mineral River to cause a nuisance.

The commission was told complaints were received from owners of motels, cottages and cabins at a resort area along the Mineral River and Lake Superior.

The company will be asked to show cause why an order should not be issued forbidding the dumping.

Soo Stamp Coming

WASHINGTON (P)—Operators of the White Pine smelter were ordered to report at the June meeting of the State Water Resources Commission to answer a charge of pollution Lake Superior.

Commission investigators said the smelter was dumping mine third children may be offset by a rise in births of the fourth and higher orders.

"The outlook is that the total number of births will decline only gradually during the balance of this decade," the statisticians comment.

Eskymos End 5th Straight Unbeaten Season

Rouman-Men Win 43rd Straight, 7-2, On Breitzman's Two-Hitter

One of the greatest moments in the history of Escanaba High School athletics came yesterday afternoon when Coach Jim Rouman's Eskymo baseball players closed out their fifth straight undefeated season by defeating a stubborn Gladstone team 7-2.

The victory marked the 43rd straight win for Escanaba since 1950.

Ace righthander Harlan Breitzman posted the win on a two-hitter while fanning seven and walking six. It was his eighth straight win of this season and boosts his two-year total as an Eskymo pitcher to 14, making him the winningest pitcher in the long Escanaba victory string.

Two Quick Runs

Escanaba opened fast with a pair of runs in the first inning. Breitzman cracked a solid single to right field scoring Dave Vian from third and Jim Beck from second. Both the Escanaba base runners had walked.

The Braves tied it at 2-2 after two were out in the top of the third inning. Norm Butler singled and Walter Houghton walked and the runners came home on a pair of Eskymo errors.

Beck, leading hitter on the Escanaba team, came through with a sharp single in the fourth that provided the Eskymos with a 4-2 lead and put them on their way to victory. Bob Bero was on with a single and Vian with a walk when Beck slammed the ball to centerfield to score both runners.

Solve Butler's Slants

The Eskymos clinched it in the fifth with three more runs. Breitzman opened with a double and Hugh Ray followed with a single. Pat Coyne cleared the sacks with a two-base blow to left field and scored the final Eskymo run to make it 7-2.

The Eskymos had trouble reaching Butler, who went the route for the Braves, for hits early in the game but solved his slants in the late innings.

Butler was tagged for seven hits, walked seven and fanned six. Five of the hits came in the fourth and fifth innings in which the Eskymos scored five of their runs.

Beck Top Batter

The two Gladstone hits were separated in the third and fifth innings. Butler singled in the third and Roger Carlson in the fifth.

Beck's single in the fourth was his ninth hit of the season in 22 times at the plate for a .409 (unofficial) batting average. Leading scorer on the team was Vian, whose two runs yesterday boosted total to eight in eight games.

Breitzman's record for the season includes 19 hits and 16 walks, good for only four runs, in 52 innings. He whiffed 62 batters.

Escanaba's unbeaten season, game by game, follows:

Escanaba 16, Marquette 0. Escanaba 1, Stephenson 0. Escanaba 3, Holy Name 2. Escanaba 5, Ishpeming 0. Escanaba 3, Stephenson 0. Escanaba 3, Marquette 0. Escanaba 9, Ishpeming 4. Escanaba 7, Gladstone 2.

Seniors playing their final game yesterday were Breitzman, Coyne, Beck, Hugh Ray and Norm Segura.

Betty Hicks Leads Wolverine Tourney

DETROIT (AP)—Tiny Betty Hicks, who hasn't won a golf tournament since 1946, carried a one-stroke lead into the second round of the Wolverine Women's Open today, and all because she didn't know a thing about the intricacies of the Forest Lake Country Club layout.

Playing the course for the first time Thursday, the 36-year-old Californian, who stands an inch over 5-feet and weighs just over 100 pounds, shot a 72, matching men's par. It was three-strokes under regular women's par.

Her surprising shot-making gave her a slender edge on Betty Dodd from San Antonio, Texas and Mrs. Peggy Kirk Bell of St. Clair, Mich., each carded a 73.

"It was the first time I had ever played the Forest Lake course."

Few Drivers Take Trials

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Young Jerry Hoyt, who will be in fast company Monday at the front of the 500-mile auto race lineup, said today "I'll make no plans till the race."

Leaders Hold In ABC Play

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Leaders continued to hold their positions in the American Bowling Congress tournament after Thursday's shooting.

None of the scores of bowlers who competed cracked the top 10 in the four divisions.

Top singles score Thursday was 677 by Stan Fugiel of Chicago. It takes a score of 694 or better to move into the top 10. Leading the singles is Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee with 738.

High doubles count was 1,177 by Werner Doepker and Frank Trifilo of Cincinnati. Thursday was the second straight day No. 1,200 series were posted in the doubles. Leaders are Harry Zoeller and George Pacrope, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., with 1,365.

Joe Chudy of Detroit had the high all-events count Thursday with 1,830. The division is headed by Fred Bujack, Detroit, with 1,993.

Four errors and three double-plays Western Michigan missed helped Almas in the opener.

Bronco Roger Eggers held Alma to three hits in the nightcap. Catcher Fred Messner homered for Western in both games.

The two teams play the third game today. If rain washes out the contest, Alma automatically qualifies to meet Ohio State, the Big Ten champion, in the final district playoffs starting Monday.

The 72-day tourney ends June 5.

Kiwanis Practice

The Kiwanis team of the Babe Ruth League will practice at 1 Saturday at the Webster diamond.

All new boys in the league must turn in birth certificates to Petersen by June 7.

The Babe Ruth grand opening of the season will be held soon.

Softball

Last night's games called off because of rain. Tonight, Anderson Brothers vs. Lucky Nine at 7:30.

Alma And Western Split Doubleheader

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Underdog Alma split a doubleheader 9-8 and 3-0 with Western Michigan Thursday in the first two games of the best-of-three semifinal NCAAA baseball playoffs for District Four.

Four errors and three double-plays Western Michigan missed helped Almas in the opener.

Bronco Roger Eggers held Alma to three hits in the nightcap. It takes better than 3,000 to hit the top 10, while in first place is Pfeiffer Beer of Detroit, with 3,136.

The two teams play the third game today. If rain washes out the contest, Alma automatically qualifies to meet Ohio State, the Big Ten champion, in the final district playoffs starting Monday.

This was supposed to be the year the Braves finally cooked up a National League pennant, what with their power, speed and pitching. But as of now, the only thing brewing in Milwaukee is beer.

Bobby Thomson, Joe Adcock and Eddie Mathews were to supply the power. Warren Spahn was to lead a dandy pitching staff to greatness. Even Manager Charlie Grimm's ulcers were in great shape.

So what happens? The Braves aren't even playing 500 ball. And after yesterday's 5-4 defeat by Cincinnati, they're only two percentage points ahead of the fifth-place Dodgers.

Her big golfing moment came back in 1941 when she won the U.S. National Amateur Championship and was named the Associated Press' woman athlete of the year.

Right behind the leaders, locked in a tie for fourth place with 74's, were Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay. Tied at even-par 75 were Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Mickey Wright of LaJolla, Calif.

Miss Hicks' last tournament victory, came oddly enough, in a tournament called the Victory Open.

"But that was a long, long ago," she recalled, "too long."

She has been a regular member of the touring pros for the past two years, playing only sporadically before that.

Coach Skip Cowan's Eagles

turned back Kingsford 5-0 yesterday behind tight pitching by big Jim Strohl. Negaunee also had a fine pitching performance from Jim Gervae while whipping Gwin 4-0.

Strohl contributed three of Stephenson's hits off Kingsford's Steve Branz to go along with his five-hit mound job. He tripped to open the fourth inning as the Eagles broke a scoreless tie.

Spencer Bischel was hit by the pitcher and Schuster pounded an infield grounder that scored both runners.

In the fifth the Eagles scored three more runs. Harlan Gruenstern singled and stole second. Jerry Martin walked and Strohl rapped a single to score Gruenstern. Bischel's double scored Martin and Strohl scored on an infield error with Mike Dolack at bat.

Strohl had a two-hitter going until the seventh with two out. Three Kingsford singles loaded the bases but the Flivver rally died. Strohl fanned eight and walked one.

Branz, freshman ace who had won six for the Flivvers this season, went the route. He gave up nine hits, one walk and fanned seven.

Gervae tossed a three-hitter to give Negaunee its shutout win over Gwin. The Miners picked up five hits off Barry Mussatto who tossed for the Model Towners. Roger St. John, Negaunee

Everything Clicks At Once For Dazzling Chicago Cubs

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — The dazzling second-place Chicago Cubs are finding that everything is clicking at once — from pitcher Howie Pollet, a 34-year-old lefty who has been around the majors since 1941, to Bob Speake, raw rookie.

Pollet's tantalizing curve was seldom better as he blanked his former teammates, the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-0 on six hits Thursday to continue the Cubs' brilliant pitching streak. It was his first victory of record.

And the 24-year-old Speake, as usual, delivered in the clutch with a two-run homer and a single. His home run Wednesday was all Paul Minner needed to shut out the Cards 1-0 on four hits. In sweeping a three-game series, the Cubs held St. Louis to one run and 12 hits.

Pleasant Surprise

For a guy straight out of five active years in the lower minors, Speake has been one of the most pleasant surprises to hit the Cubs in years. The off-season butcher registered his best batting average last year at Des Moines, a modest .264. But he always had power and apparently it has not been lost in his jump to the majors.

Speake, who was a first baseman until Cub manager Stan Hack placed him in the outfield, has walloped seven homers, four in his last six games. He has driven in 23 runs with 21 hits, and eight of them have been game-deciding blows. His average is .284, tops

Junior Archers Shoot Sunday

The Junior Red Buck Archery Club will hold a tournament Sunday afternoon at the new Ski Hill range.

Transportation to the tournament will be furnished at Club 314 at 1:30. The tournament is open to any boys 12 years of age or younger. Members and non-members are invited to compete.

First prize in the tournament will be a Blackhawk bow and second prize will be a dozen arrows.

The archers will shoot the 28-target course twice around. The recently completed course may be varied for the youngsters, cutting down some of the distances on targets.

The Junior club has a membership of 45.

Population Goes To 165 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — This country's population was due to reach 165 million this morning.

That figure will be ticked off just before 9 o'clock (EDT) by the "census clock" at the Commerce Department Building, the Census Bureau said.

The census clock, a large board with a map of the United States and a clock hand indicating total population, ticks off a net increase of one person each 12 seconds.

This is done by combining estimates, based on vital statistics from throughout the nation, that there is a birth each 8 seconds, a death each 21 seconds, an immigrant arrives each 2 minutes and an immigrant departs each 24 minutes.

The bureau said early this month that its reports indicated the nation's population stood at 164,595,000 on April 1. That was an increase of 2,835,000, or 1.8 per cent, over the preceding 12 months.

The population reached the 160 million mark midway through August, 1953. The last formal census, in April 1950, put the population at 151,132,000, including members of the armed forces.
